

2024 National Instructional Leader Academy (NILA)

Turning Possibilities into Probabilities for all Students

To meet ever-changing needs in a digital age, and continue to provide equitable opportunities for all students, school district instructional leaders need an opportunity to grow in their own professional learning and to network with other leaders from across the country for collective impact.

and

The National Instructional Leader Academy was developed by AASA and AVID as a timely opportunity for district instructional leaders to be refreshed and challenged in leadership skills and knowledge by looking through the lens of instruction, culture, and systems as they continue to grow as impactful leaders.

Objectives/Benefits

Develop and engage in professional learning communities focused on the essential role of district instructional leadership in supporting equitable opportunities for all students.

Examine each leader's current district goal, practices, and instructional systems through the lens of leadership, culture, instruction, and systems in a consultancy protocol.

Implement processes to support district-level culture, provide leadership, guide instruction, and align and integrate systems, which will ensure student outcomes of college and career readiness for all students.

Leaders will be empowered to address change, troubleshoot challenges and barriers, and identify the drivers they need to explicitly plan and lay a foundation for the conditions that will support equitable opportunities for all students.

Please contact Adena Adams at adena.adams@aasa.org or Jessica Thayer at jthayer@avid.org with any questions regarding the AASA/AVID National Instructional Leader Academy.

This National Instructional Leader Academy is designed for district leaders who are charged with setting the vision and leading implementation of instructional services, which may include teaching and learning, curriculum, accountability, and/or technology. Successful completion of this program will provide leaders with valuable, targeted professional learning to turn possibilities into probabilities for all students.
