When facing complex problems, superintendents turn to their peers for expert advice, insight and more. School Administrator is where they will find answers that do not appear elsewhere.

See the timely editorial that will be widely read and shared:

Editorial Highlights for JUNE’s “Self-Care, Wellness and Health” include:

> Thought Leadership Series: A conversation with an author and poet Joy Harjo and education professor and former superintendent

> Permission to Feel/The pathway for education leaders to build inner resilience in troubled times begins with applying emotional intelligence

> Soul Care: A Three-Part Plan/A candid discussion of the toll the pandemic has taken on superintendents (threats, rushed retirements, extreme stress, mental health) and the need to support one another.

> ‘I Was Weary and Knew I Needed Something’/A superintendent in need details in a partnership model with a local healthcare organization and a personal coach for supporting the mental health and well-being of education leaders

> Cautionary Tales to Social Media Attacks/An attorney’s advice to superintendents on dealing with threatening language on social media – differentiating between nasty criticism and dangerous comments.

Ad Deadline: April 8

Contact Kathy Sveen TODAY at ksveen@smithbucklin.com. She can create a program to stretch your budget and meet your specific needs. Ask her about E-blasts, digital edition, web and more!!

- Gain facetime with 20,000+ superintendents and district-level leaders when you advertise.
- 89% of School Administrator readers are involved in district purchases
- 92% of school district decisions/purchased take place in district offices, led by superintendents (Even if now those are virtual.)

Coming in JULY: The Annual “Best of” 2020-21 School Administrator (Full-Length, Digital Edition)