

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATOR

Written by Superintendents for Superintendents
DECEMBER EDITORIAL HIGHLIGHTS

THEME: ACCELERATING ADULT LEARNING

When schools closed March 12, 2020, adult learning ramped up and educators began building new skills and knowledge. The question superintendents face is how you get the entire staff “all in.”

School Administrator is the place superintendents turn to for expert advice, insight and more.

See the timely editorial below that will be widely read and shared:

Features include:

>When Superintendents Collaborate: Harnessing the Power of Collective Inquiry. A California network provides a safe space for superintendents to address challenging issues using periodic “case” presentations to a small group of peers.

>Accelerating Adult Learning. A look at the power of Leadership Networks to accelerate adult learning through site visits (in-person and virtual), shared ideas, presentations and more.

>Capacity Building in Others. Gain insight on a philosophy and personalized approach to making each member of a leadership team “the best they can be.”

>Coaching and Learning: Long Beach’s Culture. This award-winning district tackles difficult issues by building a professional culture of team problem solving with better principal supervision.

>Four Strategies for Instructional Coaching. Instructional coaching is a big-ticket item so two researchers identified four strategies to improve the chances of its success.

And More ...Legal Brief, Board Savvy Superintendents and humor columns.
